BROWNSVILLE ITEMS,

Attempt at Murder-Agricultural Col Husband Employed in the Legal Business.

The letter which is given below is from the private pen of a young wife to her maiden aunt in Batesville. The letter tells its own story sufficiently plain to require no explanation. It may be remarked, however, that the lady takes a very favorable view of the peculiar hard labor which keeps her good man out so late o' nights. The name of the very happy masculine is changed, and Orlando put in instead, for the purpose of leaving the curious public in doubt as to the precise legal gentleman meant: lege-The Storm of Last Week. perate attempt was to rob the peddler of his pack. The negroes are now lodged in fall, to await their trial. Egan seems to be a man of courage."

The Bee reminds its readers that every representative in the Tennessee Legisla-ture has the right of nominating three ture has the right of nominaling three young men for scholarships, free of tuitton, in the University at Knoxville. A department of agriculture has been established in connection with the University and a farm is attached so that any young man who desires to do so can, by manual labor, defray all of his expenses while obtaining a thorough collegiste course, without having to pay out any money. To working boys, we would say here is your chance. Apply at once to your county representative.

The Bee of yesterday says: "The storm that swept over this section of the State last week, did some damage in this country. We learn that it was particularly severe on the north side of Forked Deer. In places fences were blown down, trees torn up by the roots, and the growing corn, now approaching maturity, was iitsrally stripped of its foliage, and much of corn, now approaching maturity, was lit-iabors, share his sorrows, his joys and his orally stripped of its foliage, and much of it blown flat, making the injury pretty ters, Miss Carrie E.
